ADVERTISEMENT NO. CMFRI /SEETTD / 09/02/2015.

The CMFRI research project on "Global learning for local solutions: Reducing vulnerability of marine-dependent coastal communities" (GULLS) under the theme on Coastal Vulnerability was sanctioned under the International research project initiative by Belmont Forum and G8 Research Councils International Opportunities Fund. This project will address the Belmont Challenge priorities in the area of coastal vulnerability – specifically to challenges that arise for food security and sustaining coastal livelihoods as a result of global warming and increasing human coastal populations. The project will contribute to improving community adaptation efforts by characterizing, assessing and predicting the future of coastal-marine food resources and identification of suitable adaptation options. The overall project objectives will be to build regional skill-sets that can reduce coastal vulnerability by evaluating and characterizing likely impacts, create predictive systems that will inform decision makers about the expected consequences of coastal changes; deliver alternative options in terms of adaptation and transformation within coastal communities; and to define the long-term implications of selecting a particular option in terms of economic, social and environmental outcomes.
